American Land Title Association to Livestream Annual Convention Sessions

Palm Beach, FL., October 8, 2013 — The American Land Title Association (ALTA), the national trade association of the land title insurance industry, announced that it will livestream each general session during the four-day annual convention at The Breakers in Palm Beach, Florida.

The livestream can be accessed during each general session by clicking here.

“We are excited to once again offer livestreams of our general session speakers to our members that are unable to join us in Palm Beach,” said Michelle Korsmo, ALTA’s chief executive officer. “We continually look for ways to interact with our membership. I think our members, whether in-person or via livestream, will find our Annual Convention general sessions to be very informative and educational.”
