American Land Title Association Statement on Federal Housing Finance Agency's Equitable Housing Finance Plans

Washington, D.C., June 8, 2022 — The American Land Title Association (ALTA), the national trade association of the land title insurance industry, released the following statement today regarding the Federal Housing Finance Agency's Equitable Housing Finance Plans.

"ALTA and its members support expanding affordable and sustainable homeownership opportunities for more Americans across the country," said Diane Tomb, ALTA's chief executive officer. "The title and settlement services industry remains committed to strengthening communities, while protecting property rights for all consumers. We look forward to continued engagement with the FHFA, as well as Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac, in a collaborative, transparent and informed process to help provide equitable access to housing opportunities in underserved communities. We appreciate the GSEs' intent to work with the industry closely throughout the continued development and implementation of its respective plans."
